

G62 Coefficient of Friction (COF) Test Fixture

COF Test Device Requirements – Many industry standards specify an apparatus for determining the coefficient of friction of plastic film. NOTE - The G62 test fixture meets these requirements, when placed into and used with a universal test machine.

The G62 model test apparatus is designed for determining the coefficient of friction for different plastic film materials.

G62 Test Fixtures

Contact an application engineer to configure a solution to your application requirements. (1-800-430-6536)